5 REASONS You Need a Copier Security Action Plan

1

Putting your copier behind your company's firewall is no guarantee of security on its own.

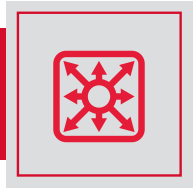
2

MFPs address business information in both paper and digital form, therefore both formats must be considered in a security plan.

3

Cloud and mobile technologies have merged to offer the benefit of "anytime, anywhere" access to information, but that also means greater vulnerability.

4



All copier access points – like the display screen, hard drive, communication and network ports – represent opportunities to gain entry to the network.

5

Documents in motion (faxes, scans) can be intercepted and used if not secured with encryption.

Sharp copiers and printers are designed with advanced security features to help guard against unauthorized access. Learn more at business.sharpusa.com/Document-Systems/Security
